

LG ArtCool voted Which Best Buy

In a survey of both split and portable air conditioning systems suitable for the domestic market, consumer magazine Which May issue voted the LG ArtCool its Best Buy, with a score of 91%. Assessed on its cooling capacity, energy efficiency, ease of use, dehumidification and noise level, the ArtCool was described as "brilliant at cooling quickly and quietly, best product for a good night's sleep."

Noting that this type of system needs to be professionally installed by a specialist, Which particularly liked the way ArtCool units are disguised as a framed picture. "You can personalise it by sliding in your own photo or print."
